Dear Harish-Chandra,

If it is felt to be necessary I of course give my permission for my part. I am just grateful that someone is interested in those things and a little ashamed at not having made them easier to understand.

So far everything is working out quite nicely here. It is perhaps even better than we had expected. Arf is also here now. He is very easy to get along with. Although I appreciate the opportunity to think by myself for a while without worrying about anyone else it is good to be able to have a little mathematical gossip with him now and again.

Yours,

Bob Langlands
